

Appointment of Beneficiary Form

Guidance Notes:

- Providence Life Limited, PCC (Providence) adhere to strict confidentiality procedures when we communicate with our clients. For security purposes, we will regard the details you provide as your authorised contact details; it is therefore important that they are accurate and that you let us know if any of these details change.
- This form is to be used if you are the owner of the policy and want its benefits to go to one or more adults and/or children as beneficiaries or contingent beneficiaries in the event of the death of the relevant life assured. If you are the joint owner of the policy and wish to designate a beneficiary, all policyholders must sign the form. This form invalidates all previous beneficiary designations so all sections of the form must be completed.
- This form cannot be used if you wish to create a gift for inheritance tax purposes (UK domiciliaries only).
- Inheritance laws and beneficiary designation: Some countries have laws governing the distribution of a person's estate on their death. Although the beneficiary form technically removes the benefits of the policy from your estate, this could be challenged. To avoid any doubt, you should seek advice in choosing an appropriate course of action.
- Joint policy: In the case of a joint policy where both policyholders are lives assured and the policy is written on a first death basis, the surviving policyholder will be the beneficiary. This form will only apply in the event of the death of both policyholders, or when the policy is written on a last death basis.
- Changes to beneficiaries: Completing a subsequent form can change those named as beneficiaries in this form. Changes that are not formally recorded by designation or will (such as divorce and re-marriage) cannot alter the benefits payable under this form.
- Unborn or unnamed children as contingent beneficiaries: If you wish to specify a child who is either not yet born, or who may be adopted at a later date, insert one of the following phrases after the words 'Other Beneficiary' in Section 3:
 - 'Children of the life/lives assured';
 - 'Children of the life/lives assured's marriage to [name], wife/partner'; or
 - 'Children legally adopted by the life/lives assured'.

If your circumstances are such that several of these classes of children would be potential beneficiaries a suitable combination of the wording of a, b, and c would also be acceptable.

- Trustees: Trustees are appointed here to act after the death of the relevant life/lives assured and give instructions concerning the policy or any benefits arising from it. Providence cannot be responsible for any actions or omissions committed by those trustees. Trustees must enter their address in Section 4 and inform Providence of any address changes. All trustees, including a corporate trustee, must sign this form at Section 5 to show they accept their duties as trustees. They must be aged 18 or over (except a corporate trustee). The arrangements for continued Investment with Providence (or any of its subsidiary Companies) are contained in the trust provisions.
- Interpretation: Providence will carry out the instructions given by you as policyholder(s). It cannot be held responsible for any misunderstanding made when the form was completed or any changes in circumstances affecting who should benefit from the policy. If any challenges are made to the validity of payments made under your instructions in this form, they must be addressed to the recipients of any benefits.
- Assignments: If you assign a policy specified in this form as security or collateral to a financial body (such as a bank), that assignment will take priority over beneficiaries' claim to any benefits designated here.
- Benefits where no primary or contingent beneficiary survives: If no beneficiaries survive, then benefits due will pass to the policyholder(s) equally or the estate of the last survivor.
- Completing this form: If you cannot enter the details asked for in the space available, please make a note on the form and attach a page containing those details.
